the 1990s, the number of people in the UK who are aged 65 and over has increased by 1.5 million (1990–1999) and is projected to increase by a further 1.5 million by 2010 (Office of National Statistics 2000).

There is a growing awareness of the need to address the health care needs of older people. The Department of Health (2000) has set out a vision for the future of health care for older people, and the Department of Health (2001) has set out a strategy for the future of health care for older people. The strategy is based on the following principles:

- The health care system should be able to meet the needs of older people in a timely and effective manner.
- The health care system should be able to meet the needs of older people in a way that is consistent with their wishes and preferences.
- The health care system should be able to meet the needs of older people in a way that is consistent with the values and beliefs of the community.

BOARD OF EDUCATION IS EXECUTIVE HEAD FOR SCHOOLS

The School Board meets once a week to take up the financial and administrative problems of the schools. It is the supreme authority on school problems and is responsible for all appropriations and building projects.

The "Board of School Trustees" is the legal name of the board that provides for and governs the public schools of Hammond. It is made up of five members, who are elected by the people for a term of four years.

The board is organized with a president, secretary, and a treasurer, the Superintendent of Schools being appointed Educational Director and Chief Executive Officer. The members of the present board are Claude Sohl, President; Elmer McKay, Secretary; Fred Dedelow, Treasurer; Clarence McVey, and Clarence Mason.

Mr. L. L. Caldwell, Superintendent of Schools, is executive head of all public schools in Hammond.

Mr. A. L. Spohn is the principal of Hammond High School, a position which he has held for seventeen years.

Mr. R. G. Rupp is the assistant principal and school treasurer of Hammond High School, positions which he has had for seventeen years.

Insect life was chosen as the theme for the 1936 DUNES because of the comparison which can be drawn between insect life and human life—comparison with none of the petty concealments, complications, or distorted views of human living. In the insect world things are done straightforwardly with no attempt to cover the greed of the glutton, the industry of the worker, the singleness of purpose of the fighter, or the passive dependence of the parasite.

It is possible to say much in an insect comedy about human life and to express it in a way more subtle, more clearly defined, without superfluous words, preparations, and proofs—more effectively—than it would be possible to bring out in a theme in which humans appear as such.

Although a practical solution of human problems by a comparison with insect problems cannot be made, a symbolic solution may be derived.

The theme is, to a certain extent, a moral, criticism, and a mirror—a satire—on human life. The actions of the insects, which are so apparent, can easily be compared with the less obvious, yet human and instinctive actions of people. The satire enters in the exaggeration the insects give the action. Other qualities in the life of insects are much like those of humans. These are such things as the development of the insect, the social trends, and that most important phase of insect life—the organization. In this organization, the beneficial works are supported, while the detrimental influences are impersonally weeded out.

The human race could learn much by watching and transposing to their own government the simple, fundamental principles of insect organization.

DESCRIPTION OF CHARACTERS

Wandering scholar: a middle-aged, alert, sharp-eyed man, who is intent upon the solving of human problems by the watching of insects.

Professor: a middle-aged man, with kindly, intelligent eyes and a continual willingness to help.

Woman: a mother, about thirty-five years old, who appears to have lived well and graciously.

Baby: a small infant only a few days old.

PRELUDE A FOREST GLADE

The scene is a clearing in the forest. Amid the deep green of the trees can be heard the twitter of birds and the sound of a stream making its way over the rocks in its bed. Out of the woods comes a man, a wanderer. He sits down and looks around.

A scholarly, middle-aged professor enters the clearing. He carries a butterfly net in his hand and looks eagerly around to find the butterfly he has apparently been chasing.

Professor: Hello! May I help you.

Wandering Scholar: No, I just sat down. I like to sit here and watch it whirling around.

Professor: Whirling around? What is whirling around?

Wandering Scholar: The whole earth, the whole universe. And the strange thing about it is they're all whirling around me. Why, I'm the hub of the universe.

Professor: Are you that?

Wandering Scholar: I'm more than that—at this very moment I'm the center of the harmony of the spheres; that's what I am. The center of the harmony of spheres, the very center.

We find ourselves in a different scene—it is the principal's office. He sits there at his desk, the destiny of twenty-four hundred students in his hands. He is the controlling point of Hammond High School. He is the center of the harmony of the spheres—his whole universe is whirling around him. The great responsibility of being the center of the harmony of the school is his, but he has Professor: Rather a responsibility, isn't it?

Wandering Scholar: Oh, I'll just fix that all right. (He takes his hat off and throws it some distance away.) Now, Universe, whirl around my hat.

Professor: You settle large affairs so simply that I suppose you have no difficulty in settling smaller ones. We are at some distance from the city. I have a car over there. I could give you a lift.

Wandering Scholar: To where?

Professor: To where you want to go.

Wandering Scholar: I'm there. I have my universe whirling around me. I can sit here and enjoy it. I have your help if it is necessary. There is nothing more I could want. I'm content with a spectator's seat to watch the comedy called Life. If I know the life of the insects all about me, I'll know the life of human beings.

Professor: Well, as long as you don't need any help just now, I think I'll be off to search for my butterflies.

Wandering Scholar: I think I'll just lie here and see Nature's answer to life's greatest riddle.

able and willing assistants in the teachers.

Were one to wander about the halls of Hammond High School, he would find a myriad of extra curricular activities, the frills of the school, the features that give the sparkle to scholastic life. It is just as if one were walking through a forest and could view the hundreds of butterflies, the frills and sparkle of the forest.

THE BUTTERFLIES

We find the vagrant still watching the comedy of the insects. The professor has left to find his butterflies, when suddenly these butterflies swarm into the clearing within plain sight of the vagrant. As the vagrant watches them, he notices on one side a number of them arguing on some question; on another side there are butterflies reminiscing about past happenings. They entertain themselves by playing, dancing, acting and trying to catch each other in ludicrous poses. Some admire their features in the mirror-like surface of the pool. The light catches the fantastic coloring of their clothes, their changing moods corresponding to the varicolored garments. The vagrant shakes his head. "Butterflies, just butterflies," he says.

As the wandering scholar strolls through the halls of Hammond High School, he sees many clubs doing their work. There is the debating team arguing on some important matter, there are students talking over old happenings, the dramatic club is practicing a play, the camera club snapping pictures, students are dancing. The mirrors of the school reflect outstanding students. For one day of the year students appear in grotesque clothing—Hobo Day.

. . . "Butterflies, just butterflies."

ACE OF CLUBS PROMOTES HIGH SCHOLASTIC STANDARDS

The promotion of higher scholastic standards, plus an effort to furthering the acquaintances of the freshmen with one another, was the purpose of the Ace of Clubs, which was sponsored by Miss Pritchard. Toward this end, the club gave several parties for its members, besides sponsoring an after-school dance. The club also took care of the check room at the Fair. Officers were Jean Dickson, president; Palmer Singleton, vice-president; Mary Ellen David, secretary; and Paul Morris, treasurer.

SENIOR HI-Y SPONSORS AMATEUR SHOW

"We want Ruben. We want Ruben," howled the balcony boys. "Bong!" gurgled the gong in the hands of Bob Meyer. "Swishh!" went several pairs of dancers' legs. A dream? Nooo, don't be silly. Have you forgotten the Amateur show, sponsored by the Senior Hi-Y? We haven't, and will wager you haven't either. A banquet for new members and the Junior Hi-Y contributions to the Thanksgiving baskets, and sending boys to various conferences were among the less spectacular activities of this club, but were, nevertheless, important.

The sponsor was Mr. Beyer. The officers: Merritt Metz, president; Carter Miller, vice-president; Paul Curtner, treasurer; and Robert Klitzke, secretary.

JUNIOR HI-Y INITIATES NEW TECH HI-Y

The Junior Hi-Y, sponsored by Mr. Seddelmeyer, really worked during the year. Among their activities were winning a magazine contest and earning thirty-six dollars; organizing and equipping an indoor baseball team; contributing to the Thanksgiving basket milk fund; aiding in the distributing of the Thanksgiving baskets; attending conferences at Anderson, East Chicago, and Valparaiso; sending officers and sponsor to the officers' conference at Indianapolis; sending Carl Christophersen and George Rusine to the first national Hi-Y conference at Boreas, Kentucky; officially initiating the new Tech Hi-Y officers; aiding the Senior Hi-Y in the sale of amateur night tickets; and acting as host for the Hammond Hi-Y night held on May 6.

The officers were Carl Christophersen, president; Bill Sohl, vice-president; Belmont Clark secretary; and Ted Viden, treasurer.

SENIOR GIRL RESERVES SELL SWEETS

The Girl Reserves are sweet, judging by all the candy which they sold. Candy for the fair. Candy after school. And they had business in their blood. They sold stationery, too. And their weekly parties were fun.

Sponsors were Miss White and Miss Kennedy. Officers were Marjorie Sohl, president; Jacquelyn Vande Vort, vice-president; Rose Pikutowski, secretary; and Agnes Marovich, treasurer.

Row 1—Miss Kennedy, Miss White.

Attentioooooon! Something new in hikes. The Junior Girl Reserves, headed by Miss Bollenbach, took a hike clear out to Green Lake Pool, and actually walked both ways. However, they did not spend the whole year walking, but exercised by roller skating, giving an Easter party for the pre-school children at Brooks House, and selling candy after school.

The president was Ruth McCay, the vice-president, Edna Wall; secretary, Charline Dickerson, and treasurer, Joann Termini.

Row 1—(top)—Miss Davis, Allen, Beatty, Belshaw, Betz, Boles, Chapman. Row 2—Church, Croak, Crumacker, Dieterich, Derbish, Doulton, Eder, Emerson, Erickson, Fischer, Gaffney. DRAMATIC CLUB PRESENTS ONE-ACTS

Dimming lights. Paul Kiefer brandishing a poker. Dramal Aaahh. Most of the actors (?) who took part in the four original one-act plays were members of the Dramatic Club. New members were made to give little dramatic skits at the mid-semester party with which they were welcomed. As a means of entertaining the student body as a whole, the club presented one of the original one-act plays which was written by the Creative writing class.

The sponsor was Miss Davis. The officers were Ruth Groman, president; Alberta Loesch, vice-president; Marge Turner, secretary; and Ted Thomas.

ARTS AND CRAFTS GIVE SUCCESSFUL BAL MASQUE

The Arts and Crafts Club followed the successful Bal Mandarin of last year with the equally successful Bal Masque which took place in the early stages of the semester. And the members took two trips into Chicago to the Art Institute, sponsored the lovely auditorium session which made such an impression at Christmas, took charge of a lecture on sculpturing and are to be counted responsible for the exhibit work plus industrial, educational, and social services. The events of the year were climaxed by an evening trip to the dunes, with swimming and a wiener roast.

Miss Schubkegel sponsored: Marge Turner was president; Jack Morton and June Clouse did duty as vice-presidents; and Grace Schneck and Christine Roche were the secretary-treasurers.

BOHEMIAN CLUB PUBLISHES "GROWING PAINS"

The great question with the Bohemian Club is "Chop Suey or Chili?" Chili brought the best results as to new members. Or was it the new members that necessitated chili? Anyway, the bowls were effective. The Herald was richer for the regular book reviews contributed, and "GROWING PAINS", a compilation of the best compositions written by members of the group, was the club's gift (fifteen cents, please) to the Fair. In spite of the fact that Miss McGranahan, the sponsor, continually played a "A dillar a dollar, a ten o'clock scholar" game, some fine things were read and criticized at the meetings.

The officers were: Bob Pence and Ted Viden, presidents; Bob Meyer and Jack Black, vice-presidents; and Ted Viden and George Roche, secretary-treasurers.

AERONAUTICAL CLUB VISITS NAVAL STATION

Members of the air-minded younger generation put wings on their heels and hopped over to nearby airports to poke their fingers into crevices and ask innumerable questions. Some of the ports of call were the municipal airport and the Great Lakes Naval Training Station. Mr. Matson, who is a naval gunner, talked a great deal, we are told, about planes.

Sponsors for the Aeronautical Club were Mr. Brown and Mr. Matson. Officers: Charles Moser, president; Russell Rickman, vice-president; Herbert McLaughlin, secretary-treasurer.

BIOLOGY CLUB SPONSORS DOODLE-BUG DANCE

Sponsored by Miss Reeder, the Biology Club furnished flowers in boxes for the rooms, and sent some to be exhibited at the flower show given by the Woman's Club. It also dressed the girls' gym up in some peculiar and blood curdling insects, and sponsored the "Doodle-Bug dance." Officers were Wilfred Haley and Bob Yarnell, presidents; Marguerite Kilborn and Mildred Howard, vice-presidents; Laura Rogers and Edna Ruth Mills, secretaries, and Herbert Gutowsky and Betty Borman, treasurers.

PRESS CLUB PRINTS "TINY TIMES"

"Tiny Times," an eight page paper for the Fair, was the brain child of the Press Club, along with a book on school clubs and their officers. The club also took a trip to the WLS print shop in Chicago, and held a banquet in honor of Benjamin Franklin.

The officers for the first semester were president, John Planer; vice-president, Arnold Porter; secretary, Bill Tuley; treasurer, Emil Gallagher. For the second semester: Edward Rosenwinkel; vice-president, Arnold Porter; secretary, Bill Tuley; treasurer, Emil Gallagher. The sponsor was Mr. Howe.

FRENCH CLUB HOLDS ALL MEETINGS IN FRENCH

All the meetings of the French Club were held in French. Even though speaking in a language with which they were not familiar, the club accomplished a great deal this year, buying a book for the library, conducting a candy sale at the Fair, and sponsoring an amateur show for their private entertainment.

Officers for the year were: president, Elizabeth Sigler; vice president, Helen Herrburg; treasurer, Mary Elizabeth Klein; and secretary, Roberta McEwen.

GERMAN CLUB PRESENTS OLYMPIC MOVIE

This year the German Club, sponsored by Miss Schuelke, used as its theme the topic "Travel." To carry out this theme, the members visited such places as the Black Forest and Bavaria, through the medium of lectures, slides and moving pictures. The movie bug bit them so hard that the members sponsored a movie which was shown to the German classes, and also showed one on the Olympic games in Germany, at the fair. The more social pursuits were attended to by a Christmas party at which were given recitations in German and German songs were sung, and by a combination initiation and pot-luck supper at the beginning of the second semester.

The president's office was held, during the first semester, by Paul Nuoffer, and, during the second semester, by Dale Van Dyke; they were assisted by Irvin Venzke and Al Brose, respectively, during the two semesters, as vice-presidents. Mildred Schmueser, followed by Marjorie Sohl, kept the records, while Bernard Diamond and Irvin Venzke took care of the monetary end of it.

Contrary to the tradition set by the club's godfather-or-something, the Sphinx Club was heard from quite frequently. The Karmel Korn booth, which it sponsored at the fair, was perhaps the activity which was most appreciated by the students as a whole. However, the pre-Easter dance was well attended and well enjoyed. For its personal amusement, the club presented a Christmas play for the members, and had a pot-luck supper each semester. Other activities were the selling of Christmas cards and entertaining the debaters.

The sponsors were Miss Breyfogle and Miss Burhans. The officers were Murle Borchardt, president; Mary Grills and Louise Auch, vice-presidents; Ellen Fedder and Geraldine Moberg, secretaries; and Vivian Anderson and Doris Lundgren, treasurers.

SENIOR G. A. C. ACTS WATER PAGEANT

The G. A. C. completed a very active year, during which they sponsored an after-school dance, furnished a cheering section, held a lively initiation party, and instituted a new plan whereby the G. A. C. is divided into a junior and a senior G. A. C.; however the two main projects of the year were their annual play-day and the water pageant.

The water pageant, "The Princess Learns to Swim," was given twice; once for the benefit of the G. A. C., and once at the fair.

The officers were as follows: sponsors, Miss Dieterich and Miss Anderson; president, Anne Hopman; vice-president, Mary Eryan; secretary, Alma Pickett; treasurer, Louise Auch; head of sports, Rose Drzich.

Row 1—(top) Miss Dieterich, Miss Anderson, Adelsperger, Atkinson, Auch, Bein. Row 2—Beiderwieden, Beiderwieden, Betz, Black, Boles. Row 3—Borman, Bourne, Caird, Carley, Carley. AUTO CLUB TESTS STUDENT DRIVERS

In the Automobile Club's campaign for safety, they brought safety to the minds of the student body in many ways, but one of the most effective was the driver-testing equipment owned by the Chicago Motor Club, which they brought to the school. Every upperclassman who wished received a complete test, which tried out eyes, muscle coordination, quickness, and judgment.

The results of the test were given to the student and he was warned by the expert from the Club as to what were his weak spots in driving.

The sponsor of the club was Mr. Keeler. The officers for the first semester were Herbert McLaughlin, president; Billy Gostlin, vice president; Imogene Otto, secretary; Marge Turner, treasurer.

AUTO CLUB SPONSORS SAFETY MOVIE

Not only did the Auto Club test drivers, but also gave a movie free to the student body which stressed the necessity for safety. This show was given in the auditorium at night during the first semester. The club also gave an after-school dance at which a new idea for the dances was inaugurated, giving a door prize.

During the second semester the officers of the club consisted of: president, Herbert McLaughlin; vice president, Verna Atkinson; secretary and treasurer, Imogene Otto.

Row 1—Mr. Schubert, Ahlborn, Arnwald, Beer, Belchik, Belderwieden. Row 2—Bereolos, Blitsch, Brown, Brumley, Budnyk, Buhring, Clayton, Clucki, Cohan. COMMERCIAL CLUB SUPPORTS PLAYS AND OPERA

At last we have discovered who the guy behind the perpetual demand for twenty-five cents, or thirty-five cents, or fifty cents was. For shame on you, Commercial Club. Tickets for the Fall Play! Tickets for the Senior Play! Tickets for "Aida!" "Gowan away—I'm broke!" But they didn't spend their entire time pestering students for money; sometimes they took time out. Like the time they had a St. Patrick's initiation dinner, and when they gave a prize to the outstanding commercial student at graduation. Mr. Schubert sponsored; Dorothy McConnell played president; Betty Ahlborn and Richard Lloyd were vice-presidents; Emily Stefanski was secretary; and Helen Brumley shared the office of treasurer with Agnes Marovich.

CLOTHING CLUB GIVES STYLE SHOW AT FAIR

The Clothing Club started off with an initiation party. The rest of the year was profitably taken up with the various bits of business which arose at the regular meetings. They also sponsored a style show at the Annual Fair.

The sponsor was Miss Bowles; the officers, Nancy Harbert, president; Monna Howard, vice-president; Bette Ambler, secretary; and Mae Halleck, treasurer.

DEBATERS START SPEECH ARTS CLUB

The debaters, conducted by Mr. Reed and Mr. Elliott, flitted hither and yon over the state of Indiana, getting as far, even, as Illinois to debate and speak extemporaneously and oratorically. Some of their more important conferences and contests were at Maywood, Wheaton (Illinois), Mishawaka, Logansport, Bloomington, Franklin, Greencastle, and Valparaiso. Perhaps the most important of their activities this year was the beginning of the Speech Arts Club, which will draw its members from the debate squads and the forensic classes, and which has as its officers Bob Pence, president; Irene Saekacs, vice president; Betty Foss, secretary; and Susie Porter, treasurer.

Row 1—Mr. Elliott, Mr. Reed, Belshaw.

SOCIAL REPRESENTATIVES TEACH DANCE STEPS

The sponsors, Miss Schweibert—secretary of social affairs—and Bill Belshaw—secretary of student activities—assisted by the central committee composed of Bill Belshaw, Fred Paige, Ruth Groman, Louise Auch, Mary Gene Frantz, William Eckman, and Dan Dieterich, of the Social Representatives, thought up, originated, conducted, and sponsored a series of after-school dances with instruction for those who did not know how to hop. They also sponsored a Howdy dance, a Football dance, a Leap Year dance, and a Spring dance.

MARY LEE BROWN LEADS DANCERS IN '35 PROM

"Butterflies just butterflies," were the juniors and seniors as they swayed to the rhythm of Mickey Isley's band midst a riot of color in an old country garden. Prom Queen Mary Lee Brown reigned from the heart of a giant morning glory. Her attendants were Helen Bieker and Lucille John.

BETTY BETZ LEADS GRAND MARCH AS PROM QUEEN

Miss Betty Betz, Prom Queen, led the grand march, the parade of all the dances, accompanied by Jack Black, treasurer of the Junior Class.

Evelyn Voss, senior class president, was the Queen's first attendant.

Alma Pickett, 1936 Miss Hammond High, was second attendant to Queen Betz.

HIGH SCHOOL CARRIES OUT EXTENSIVE SOCIAL PROGRAM

BAL MASQUE

"Meet Miss America," loquacious Gerry Moberg, queen of the Patriotic Bal Masque. Gerry was the choice of the gaily costumed crowd that attended this gala affair sponsored annually by the Arts and Crafts Club.

FOOTBALL DANCE

"Ha! ha! ha! oh, these men," these handsome, broad-shouldered athletes, were the renowned guests at the annual football dance given in their honor and 'tis said—they formed one of the longest stag lines in the history of the whole.

SENIOR ALUMNI DANCE

Cartoons depicting popular songs decorated the walls of the boys' gym at the annual senior-alumni dance sponsored by the association during the Christmas vacation. Former students were given the opportunity to look the old place over again, while the seniors could peer into the future through the medium of people graduated before them.

HERALD DANCE

"Oh what silly creatures! What perfect frights!"—that is, all but the fair beauty, Alma Pickett, Miss Hammond High. Dead head Arty Oltz sported a consumed herring and Jane Croak chattered within the depths of a Gracie Allen hat. Dan Dieterich rated a derby for his superior line. Betty Betz, true to form, had a string of dates and Billy Belshaw was awarded the lily as representative of the opposite sex for the same honor.

HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS DRESS IN TRAMP CLOTHING

On the first Friday of the month of October, there rolls in on the trains to Hammond High School, one of the world's best collections of knights of the road, bums, tramps, or—hobos. This day is Hobo Day, and everyone comes to school in the clothes he would be too self-conscious to wear on any of the other days of the year. For instance, there are the two boys in the picture who are realizing their lifelong ambitions of being cowboys for this one day. Then, below this picture, there are a pair of people who prefer the life of the open road to all others. There is the potential "man on the flying trapeze" showing off his prowess, the flagpole sitter, who on this particular day is at half-mast, and the reminder of the old wild west in the form of a squaw with her papoose. On this first Friday of the month of October, Hammond High School pupils take the opportunity to air their hidden desires in the clothes they wear.

Top—the romantic leads of "Smilin' Thru." Robert Meyer and Lois Newton. Center—Selena Mayhew, the maid, interrupting Bill Belshaw and Ted Thomas during an "exciting" game of dominoes. Bottom—Lois Newton, the leading lady, as Moonyeen Claire.

"SMILIN' THRU" IS CHANGE FROM USUAL FALL PLAY

Fifty years ago Jeremiah Wayne (Geo. Engelman) in a fit of jealous rage shot Moonyeen Claire (Lois Newton) on the night of her wedding to John Cacteret (Bill Belshaw). Embittered because of this tragedy, John Cacteret refuses to allow his niece, Kathleen Dungannon (Lois Newton) to marry Jeremiah Wayne's son, Kenneth (Bob Meyer). However the young couple are married and two people only, Dr. Owen Harding (Ted Thomas) and Ellen, the maid, (Selena Mayhew) wish them well.

However when he realizes his devotion and love for his old friend, Owen, and when Kenneth returns from war a cripple, John Cacteret gives the young couple his blessing and passes on to join his bride, Moonyeen.

SENIOR PLAY IS ROMANTIC COMEDY

Lord Loam (Bob Klitzke) has very set ideas on equality and extravagance, and consequently, when he is going on a yachting trip, he takes with him only one valet, Crichton (Paul Kiefer) (formerly the perfect butler), and one maid, Tweenie, (Alberta Loesch) for his three daughters. Mary (Ruth Groman) Catherine (Mary Elizabeth Klein) and Agatha (Olive Boles). These, along with Ernest Wooley (James Erdmann) and the Reverend John Treherne (William Lange), are shipwrecked and forced to land on a desert island where the capable Crichton becomes the "governor" of the group. He wins the respect of all and after two years he is about to be married to Lady Mary when the party is rescued.

Upon returning to London the old order of living is resumed, Lady Mary, because of social custom, marrying Lord Brocklehurst (Guy Slaughter) and Crichton, resuming his position as a butler.

SCENES FROM "THE ADMIRABLE CRICHTON"

Top—the marooned people on the island smell food and immediately come around. Paul Kiefer, Jim Erdmann, Robert Klitzke, Bill Lange, Alberta Loesch, Ruth Groman, Mary Elizabeth Klein, and Olive Boles around the fire. Center—Alberta Loesch handing Paul Kiefer a little nourishment in the form of a cocoanut. Bottom—the reason Ruth Groman looks so sad is that she and Paul Kiefer are being rescued from the island, and shoe doesn't want to go back to her old "social" life in England.

"SIRE DE MALETROIT'S DOOR" IS PLAY GIVEN BY RESERVES

Top—Joan and Vivian Termini, Hubbard, Moberg, Allen and Kristoff.
Bottom—Moberg, Hubbard, Erickson.

On learning that his niece Blanche (Geraldine Moberg) has been receiving notes from Florimonde de Champdivers (Bill Erickson), the Sire de Maletroit (Passchall Allen) informs Blanche she must marry this man and orders Father Ignatius (Christie Kristoff) to prepare for the ceremony. The Sire mistakes Dennis de Beaulieu (Bill Hubbard) for Blanche's lover and demands their marriage or the death of Dennis. The two fall in love at first sight, and are happily married.

SENIORS AND JUNIORS HAVE COMPETITIVE ACTIVITY WEEK

Like warring ants going into battle the juniors and seniors approached their week of activity and enmity.

Two lines resembling lines of struggling ants formed for the tug of war. The senior girls and the junior boys were winning "tuggers."

The fighting subsided but only for a day, for the next day the junior and senior boys battled over three sacks much as enemy ants fight over disputed particles of food. The seniors were victorious in the sack rush.

The seniors were then given their chance to prove able defenders of their anthill, the flagpole. The juniors could not break through their defense and the anthill was saved once more for the graduating class.

Then, in the concluding contest of this series, the army composed of the seniors tried to hide from the enemy. But in their zealous flight, they failed to follow the rules of war, and lost on a technicality. Thus, it was the seniors who treated the juniors to the hunt dance.

ACT II

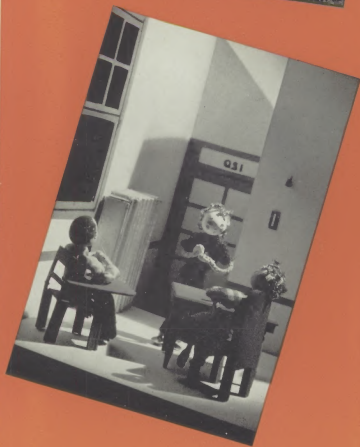

THE ATTACKERS

As the wandering scholar watches, he sees many insects working. Among these are the industrious beetles and crickets. He sees also, caterpillars destroying beautiful things—trees, shrubs, and leaves. But they soon receive their punishment for this, for the Ichneumon fly comes onto the scene and stings them, thus destroying harmful forces.

* * * * *

In the school there are many hard-working organizations and clubs, who are doing great service by their industriousness. But there are cheaters and parasites that impede them in their good work. Because of these detrimental students, there are organized the monitors and the student court. They are continually at work keeping the cheaters and parasites from bothering the business-like organizations, doing their helpful work for the welfare of the school.

SUBSCRIPTION AGENTS BREAK RECORDS

So successfully did the Dunes agents, sponsored by Miss McGranahan and headed by Kenneth Means, peddle their papers, that sales reached an all time high, and the Dunes staff did not begrudge the reward, which was in the form of a theatre party, starring George Arliss in "Mr. Hobo." Where, we should like to know, did the agents get all of the bug names which they used in conjunction with the campaign for the Dunes?

DUNES STAFF EDITS INSECT SATIRE

BUSY was the byword for the Dunes staff, especially as the year neared its end. 'Mid the clatter of typewriters, and the stench of glue, editor, Virginia Good, and business manager, Kenneth Means, worked frantically to get the proofs back and forth. And Carolyn Mann and Ted Viden, as assistant editor and assistant business manager, respectively, were hardly less rushed. The class editor, Murle Borchardt, assisted by Gerald Moberg, Mary Grills (who also did the teacher write-ups), and Jane Calnon produced the class pages. The senior editor was Ann Hopman, assisted by George Roche, Bob Ganshaw, Carl Christophersen, Ruth Groman and Adele Modjeska. The club editor was Evelyn Voss, helped by Dorothy Patton, with Susie Porter doing the write-ups. Louise Auch edited the girls' sports and helped mount the club pictures. More club pictures were mounted by Ruth Luring, who was also typist and general handy man, and Margaret Merrill was snapshot editor. The boys' sports editors were Robert Meyer and Roland Levens. The art editor, Mary Ann Nichols, was assisted by Mary Gene Frantz, Mildred Howard, and Jo Ann Clippinger. The cover design and the end page were created by Warren Harris and Ernest Jackson. The business staff was composed of Bill Sohl, George Stevens, Irvin Venzke, Rose Pikutowski, Doris Lundgren, Carter Miller, and Ted Viden. Harry McLean wrote the ads.

RED CROSS DISTRIBUTES THANKSGIVING BASKETS

The Red Cross, under the supervision of Miss van Doorninck, made favors for Carmelite and Bethany homes, helped fill and distribute Thanksgiving baskets, collected and repaired Christmas toys, held a potluck supper and dance for members, sold candy at all the football and basketball games, and made a portfolio to be sent away to a foreign country. Officers were: Emily Herbold, secretary of Junior Red Cross; Marjory Sohl, secretary; and Eileen Ewalt, treasurer.

PRESIDENT AND ASSISTANTS LEAD ASSOCIATION

Just as every insect organization has its leader and his assistants the student body of Hammond High School has its president and his assistants—vice president, recorder and the cabinet.

Last year Robert Bigelow, president; Basil Lorenz, vice-president; and Betty Betz, recorder, were the officers elected. Bob, as president, had charge of the Senate; Basil, as vice-president, presided over the House of Representatives; and Betty, as recorder, kept the minutes of the Senate meetings.

The cabinet appointed by President Bigelow consisted of Bill Belshaw, Secretary of Student Activities; Charles Hallett, Secretary of Discipline; Clifford Sohl, Secretary of Public Safety; and Emily Herbold, Secretary of the Junior Red Cross. Bill had charge of all school activities and made all the announcements concerning association activities, Clifford was in charge of the monitor system; Chuck presided over the student court; Emily was supervisor of the Junior Red Cross.

LEGISLATURE PASSES SCHOOL ORDINANCES

Every organization, even that of insects, must have its lawmaking bodies and the Hammond High School Association is no exception. Patterned after the legislative department of the national government, our legislative branch also consisted of a Senate and a House of Representatives.

The president of the Association, Robert Bigelow, presided over the Senate, which was sponsored by Mr. Nelson. The Senate was composed of three members of the

STUDENT COURT TRIES LAWBREAKERS

In the interests of progress and peace the Student Court tried over one hundred students on charges of violating hall regulations. Presided over by Charles Hallett, Secretary of Discipline, the court met on Tuesday and Thursday. The court meeting on Tuesday was composed of Robert Klitzke, senior judge; Mildred Howard, junior judge; and Lois Newton, sophomore judge. Geraldine Moberg, senior judge; Clyde Cleveland, junior judge, and Robert Van Stright, freshman judge, composed the court which met on Thursday.

HOUSE PASSES BILLS

Presided over by Basil Lorenz, vice-president of the Association and sponsored by Miss Hancock, the House of Representatives consisted of fifty-five members, one member from each advisory. Wally Gaston acted as chairman when Basil Lorenz was absent and Bob Meyer, as secretary, kept the minutes of the House meetings.

Various bills discussed this year were the Dutton bill, the Fair bill, the Limitation of Activities bill, and the Editor and Manager of Publications Impeachment bill.

HALL REGULATIONS ENFORCED BY MONITORS

Organized under the provision "All must obey" hall monitors enforced hall regulations by issuing court notices in addition to a large number of notices to students who had not lived up to the order "lock your lockers." Before and after school and at the beginning of each period, lockers were checked by the hall monitors and a fine of five cents was assessed those who had left their lockers open.

The monitors were under the supervision of Miss Strange and Clifford Sohl, Secretary of Public Safety.

ORCHESTRA CONTAINS FIRST-CLASS SOLOISTS

The Hammond High School Orchestra, composed of 83 members, has won first place in state since 1926 until this year, when they failed to place because of improper instrumentation in the string section. It won the district contest, however, and placed second in the state contest. During the year it has played for the various plays given at school and provided the orchestral accompaniment for the opera, "Aida." Small ensembles from the group have entertained at many plays, banquets, church affairs, and club meetings. In the solo contests, Bob Work won the national on his cornet, and state winners are Adele Modjeska, violin; Ruth Meyers, clarinet; Billy Clark, piccolo; Grace Schneck, bassoon; Paul Post, violin; and Howard Steffey, saxophone. Ensemble winners in the state were the cornet trio and the woodwind quartet; the horn quartet won district honors. W. H. Diercks is the director and the assistants are Truman Weimer and Florence Gindl.

BOYS' BAND IS CONSISTENT STATE WINNER

Hammond High's Boys' Band has the record of never losing a state contest since its first entrance. The band is larger than ever this year, containing 193 pieces, only 90 being used in the regular concert line up, however. Last year at the state contest at Evansville, the band was the only one in Class A that was recommended for this year's national contest at Cleveland, thus making it possible to compete at this contest without having to compete in the district or the state contest first. Mr. W. H. Diercks is the director and Mr. Truman Weimer, the assistant director.

UNIQUE GIRLS' BAND ONLY ONE IN REGION

The Girls' Band, under the direction of Truman Weimer, practices regularly in the interests of "art for art's sake." It does not compete in contests because of lack of competition. In the one contest that was held, it won first place, but there have been none since, this band being the only girls' band in the district. Some of the best players are given the chance to enter solo contests, however, and also play with the regular concert band.

ACT III

WARRING ANTS

The scene is the same forest clearing as in the prelude. The wanderer stands at one side, listening to the dictator of the ants and the journalist-ant talk about the war that the two ant armies are waging over the path between two blades of grass.

Dictator: Yes. Successful operations. The admirable spirit of our forces. Irresistible advance.

Journalist: We will print everything.

Dictator: Good. We rely upon the cooperation of the press. Don't forget the admirable spirit of our troops.

Journalist: We will do our duty. (Exit journalist. Enter an ant bond salesman.)

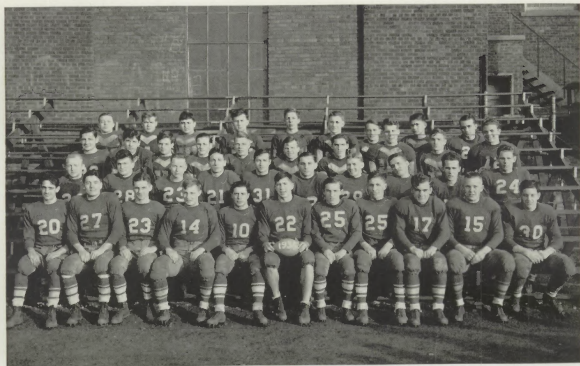

Bond Salesman: Who'll buy bonds to support the war? Without money how can we fight? Who'll give money?

Dictator: After them. After them. After them. Fight, boys; after them!

* * * * *

So the athletes of Hammond High School advance into the battle with rivals. But they are not alone in their fight. Behind them is the whole student body cheering them on to victory; behind them is the Calumet Herald, the school publication, giving them support; and behind them is the bookroom staff, selling tickets to provide financial means to keep them going.

Row 1—(top) Morris, Dowgiello, Brown, Shanda, Camperman, Kristoff, Lubarda, Bandura, Schweighardt. Row 2—Ziemba, Grafton, Almy, Bogner, Bayuk, Dillner, Jackson, Bernard, Banks, Kiefer. FOOTBALLERS WIN NINE; LOSE ONE

With only a one-point defeat marring a perfect record, the Huff machine completed the greatest season in the history of the school by winning nine games and losing only one. Through a disputable goal-line decision, the eleven were unable to break the Washington jinx, but finished second in conference standings.

Although only two veterans returned to the '35 squad, Jack Krause and Erc Grafton, Huffins was able to build a team of championship calibre with the many aspiring sophomores and juniors who reported for grid service.

With a starting lineup composed of Krause and Lorenz at ends, the pass receivers, Kunz and Kiefer at tackles, Klitzke and Spitole at guards and Bill Chartos at center, the grid fans were permitted to see a real hard-driving line in action. George Benson at quarterback, Papais and Grafton at half-backs and Peck at fullback formed a great scoring combination in the backfield.

The frequent substitutions of Bereolos, Buchanan, Kominiak, Wilhelm, Hlinka, Harris, Tsouchlos, Schweighardt, Daniels, Morris, Frankowski, Camperman, Stocker, and Novalich gave the team a strong reserve power, a deciding factor in many battles.

Famous sport writers of the Hoosier state honored our Wildcats by picking them as one of the three best teams in the state along with Evansville and Mishawaka. Hammond proved their strength against downstate competition when they journeyed south to Noblesville and took the strong Miller eleven to the tune of 18 to 0.

It is interesting to note that the Wildcats were scored upon only twice during the course of the entire season, going through eight games without having their goal-line crossed once.

FROSH FOOTBALL SQUAD HAS SUCCESSFUL SEASON

The freshman gridsters were successful in completing the season with the same amount of luck as the varsity had, losing just one game throughout the entire season. This defeat was to the score of 7-6, and was lost to the Thornton Fractional second team, a squad composed of sophomores and juniors.

Toward the end of the season Wally Ziemba, husky 215 pound first-year fullback, was moved to the varsity. Outstanding frosh are Jack Arndt, Tom Chintis, Oren Peck, Bruno Gargas, Jack Bush, Ray Levens, Harold Larimer, Bob Wagner, Ed Malmquist, Frank Stefko, Harry Howard, Reese Tuscan, and Katona.

FIRST TEAM BOASTS FLASHY INDIVIDUALS

KRAUSE

Outstanding on the gridiron for his aggressive offensive tactics, for his wise captaining, when the occasion arose for a quick decision, and for his bull-dog determination and fight, when the going was tough, "Moose" added the necessary spark and fire to the 1935 Wildcat eleven.

Through his versatile grid ability, Jack was honored with a berth on the first all-state team.

PECK

Johnny proved his worth to fans by doing a man-sized job of backing up the line and also showed his offensive ability by doing some commendable blocking. The yardage that Johnny gained usually came when it was needed the most and stamped him as a boy who can come through in a pinch.

LORENZ

His first year out for the grid game netted Base an end position on the pigskin aggregation and his speed, often unnoticed by the crowd, put a classy, streamlined appearance on the Huffmen and aided in the catching of many passes and establishing a reputation for defensive tactics.

KLITZKE

With a rare, unusual combination of speed and weight seldom found in the possession of big men, Bob went through the season in a steady pace and reached his heights in the Roosevelt classic.

HARRIS

Bill was valuable to the team because of his combined force of speed and blocking and his ability to replace any backfield man at any time. He showed his real worth in the Washington game by marching his team straight down the field to the goal line.

HLINKA

Joe, through months of hard work last year, gained much experience which will aid greatly in building up the Huff eleven of '36. He is one of the hardest driving men on the field and the serious way in which he takes his football is a credit to the coaching staff.

BENSON

With a wide and wisely-chosen selection of plays, George led the strong Purple grid-ders through a highly victorious season. He showed his gridiron versatility by shining on defense and place kicking extra points for the Cats. He will return next year.

SPITALE

Sammy fought his way through the grid season. Fight was the one dominant point in his entire character and stood out like a sore thumb while he battled his way from the kickoff to the final gun.

BEREOLOS

Herk used his super-man power to hold his place in the line and add an extra feature for a guard by racing down the field after loose balls time and again. Being only a sophomore, a year's experience has prepared him for two more years.

GRAFTON

Returning as a regular from the previous year's team, Eric continued to gain favorable comment through his grand blocking which often went unappreciated while the crowd followed the man with the ball. Grafton was very fleet of foot, and on defense he fitted perfectly into the Hammond's secondary.

KUNZ

Charging made Fred Kunz one of the most valuable men on the 1935 Purple line. Being a big man, he made use of his weight by putting a dynamited charge behind it and was quoted by coaches as being good college material.

PAPAI

Gaining two-thirds of Hammond's yardage, this spectacular triple-threat sophomore back coupled his driving knees and fighting spirit to come through for Coach Huffine after the Hammond system of plays had been built around his position.

CHARTOS

Bill was by far the steadiest defensive player on the '35 Huff machine and was rewarded by a rating of fourth best in the state. He let himself in for a great deal of dirty work around the center of the line, but though he took the brunt of many head-on plunges, he seldom missed a tackle.

KIEFER

Paul stopped many opponents' drives with his spirit, fight, and steadiness. A constant line of chatter, an important thing to a team's moral, was forever dominant in Kiefer's style of play.

Hammond crashes the line in the Washington game.

NET TEAM WINS FOURTH CONSECUTIVE SECTIONAL

Completing one of the most successful seasons ever known in the history of Hammond High, the Purple quintet finished the season with a record of 23 wins and 6 losses for a percentage of .778. With only two veterans upon the squad, the five developed until it was classed as one of the six best teams of the state. After spending the first half of the season looking for a workable combination to use along with Krause and Lorenz, Coach Campbell finally found the quintuplets who clicked in the persons of Rollie Levens, Alex Sitnick, and Bob Bigelow. This five gathered momentum throughout the season and, after tying with Froebel for the conference crown, they won the toss of the coin and proceeded to knock off Elkhart for the NIHSC Championship. Then, with the able assistance of George Sobek, George Benson, Marco Vicksinich, Jula Papais and Wally Ziemba, they continued to take the fourth consecutive sectional championship for Hammond and went on as far as the finals of the Valpo regional.

One of the most noticeable features about the victories was the decisiveness of the scores, a factor which has never before dominated in the Purple and White style of play.

"B" BASKETBALL TEAM GETS FIRST IN CONFERENCE

Led by Georgie Sobek, who afterward developed into first team material, the Purple second team battled their way through a season of sixteen wins and three losses and ended up on the top of the heap by beating Elkhart for the NIHSC championship.

With a starting line-up composed of Papais, Gusic, Larimer, Ziemba, and Sobek, the Kittens continually turned out hard-fighting battles which made the crowds flock to the Temple at seven o'clock instead of eight. During the course of the season, the "B" team collected a total of 550 points to their opponents 370 for an average of 29 points to 19 points.

The squad was greatly aided throughout the season by the services of Bob Mygrants, who did not become eligible until the second semester after which he proceeded to show his worth as a great ball-handler. Sterling Scott, rangy six foot six inch frosh center, Petrick, DuFrain, Hasse, Chintis, Vidakovich, Levens, Jens, Schreiber, and Stefko were outstanding frosh ball handlers.

Ziemba and Papais were added to the varsity line-up at tournament time.

BASKETBALL TEAM CONTAINS MANY INDIVIDUAL STARS

BASIL LORENZ: (Guard) Captain

Speed and all-around ability made Basil the top-notch player of northern Indiana. Leading the Wildcats' offensive machine by scoring 233 points, his leadership was an inspiration to his teammates. The "blond bombing" captain pulled many games out of the fire with his coolness and quick-thinking. Many fans thrilled to Lorenz's one hand push-up shot, his big scoring gun.

JACK KRAUSE: (Center)

The ability to control the ball for the Cats made Jack invaluable to the quint and his great rebound work did wonders in disheartening the enemy. His true colors were brought out in the La Porte game when he returned to the game after an early injury to put a thrilling game in the bag for Hammond.

ALEX SITNICK (Forward)

A popular favorite with the crowd, the Hessville muskrat supplied the Purple's speed and spark. Alex rang up the points with a left-handed hook shot which was "unstoppable" because of its peculiarity. He broke into the limelight at the Connorsville game and remained on the first five for the rest of the season.

BOB BIGELOW: (Forward)

After two years of constant practice and hard work, Bob broke into the Purple and White line-up. With his 6 foot, 4 inch frame he proved to be a constant menace to the opposition, using a well-timed tip-in shot. Consistency featured Bob's play from the beginning of the season to the end.

MARCO VICKSINICH: (Forward)

Breaking into the first ten as late as February, Marco didn't waste any time in bringing forth his real worth. His uncanny coolness and good ball-handling dominated his style of play. His personage will be greatly valued next year as he will be back with one year of experience to speak for itself.

ROLAND LEVENS: (Guard)

Deemed by many authorities as the greatest long shot in the region, Rol, besides coming through with many timely points for the Wilcats, played a great, steady, heady game on defense for Hammond. Many of the spectacle-crazed fans did not wake up to the value of Leven's services until far into the season. Rol's play in the sectional tournament was very outstanding.

GEORGE BENSON: (Guard)

George spent the first part of the season building up to what proved to be anything but a let-down, for he came through in grand style near the end of the season when the going was tough. He started playing his best brand of ball in the Elkhart game and continued to handle rebounds and do his share of the scoring throughout the tourneys.

GEORGE SOBEK: (Guard)

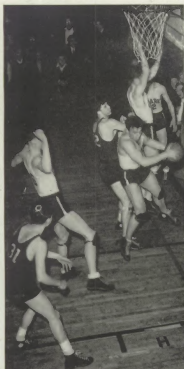

After completing a great year as captain of a NIHSC championship second team, George was moved to the first team and proceeded to impress everyone as a classy veteran during the tourney play. His real capability will be felt next year, as he is only a sophomore and Hammond can easily find a place for his calm, distinct leadership.

SPUD CAMPBELL*

Completing another successful year in the history of Hammond basketball, Spud Campbell put the Purple and White on top for the third consecutive year. The quint under Spud's supervision lost only six games, winning its fourth sectional at East Chicago, losing in the finals of the Valpo regional.

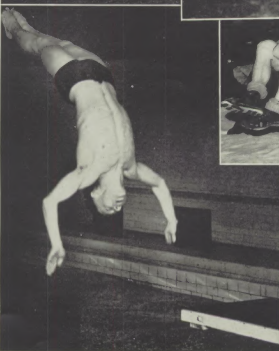

Spud produced the championship fives through a theory of individualism. He taught his boys all the little tricks of the game, offensive and defensive, and then put them on their own when they were on the basketball floor. No complex system of checked diagrammed plays cluttered the team's mind and the results have shown the logic of Campbell's teaching.

CROSS-COUNTRY RUNNERS UNDEFEATED THROUGHOUT SEASON

Under the supervision of Coach Easton the Purple and White cross-country team went through an undefeated season of seven wins and no losses and went on to place second in the conference meet at Mishawaka.

Paced by Papuga and Tanis, the Harriers kept the interest in the sport alive by winning continually. Harry Petzinger, a sophomore, Stanley Holbrook, Bill Eckman, Charley Labotka, Wayne McCullough, and Vernon Broertjes were others that starred in the hill and valley sport.

There has been a noticeable increase in the interest in the cross-country sport during the past year and a good team has aided a great deal in making it popular.

SWIMMERS TAKE CONFERENCE AND STATE TITLES

Coached by Mr. Scott, the Wildcat tankmen ended the season in a blaze of glory by copping the conference and the state title in consecutive order.

Four state champs resulted from the state meet, which was held in the new, modern Thornton Fractional pool. Jim Cook starred on the spring-board when he defeated all opposition to become a state champion. Ted Thomas and Wally Meyn also swept their respective fields in breast-stroke and back-stroke to retain their previous titles. Then, a medley relay team, composed of Meyn, Thomas and Tom Cook made a state record in their division to establish another state championship.

TENNIS TEAM TOPS WESTERN DIVISION

The Purple net enthusiasts, under the supervision of Coach Hendricks, finished their first complete season as a winner in the Western division of the northern Indiana conference but were unfortunate when they met Elkhart in the playoff.

Led by Captain Ray Lucht and teammates Al Brose, Cliff Sohl, Carl Buehring and Jim Gauthier, the squad outclassed all competition around these parts and again and again proved their worth against the toughest of opponents.

This sport is quickly rising in Hammond High and promises to become more and more popular as time goes on. The school has provided well-conditioned courts at the north end of the building for the enthusiastic net fans that care to try their hand. The team of next year will be coached by Ray Lucht, Hammond city champ.

TRACKMEN HAVE BRILLIANT SOPHOMORE TEAM

Leaving in their wake a fairly decent looking "won and lost" column, Coach Easton's cinder-pathers brought forth their real worth this season by developing a group of sophomores that are bound to be champions in two years.

Through the very good showings of Johnny Tsouchlos, George Papuga, Glen McKay, Ervin Tanis and Ed Mikulas, the squad made a good record against competition that often proved to be pretty tough. The boys took a second in the Gary indoor, barely missing the needed points to give them a claim to the trophy, and copped third in the Kokomo relays.

Some of the younger boys that made up this year's team, Prater, Lobotka, Awe, DeLay, Cook, Petzinger, Tsouchlos, Luconi, Pollet, Papais, Ziembra, Dell, Cunningham, Hansen, Viden and Malvolta, will be in the limelight in the future Easton productions.

WRESTLERS GET ALL-STATE TITLE

Under the instruction of Coach Scott, the Wildcat grapplers wound up their season in a blaze of glory and cauliflowers by snagging both the Conference and State Championship and producing four individual state champs. The four boys who returned home with the all-state honors were Casey Fredericks, who didn't lose a match all season, Dory Funk, Al Janeczko and Ray Frankowski while Bill Gostlin and Sal LaMantia took seconds at the meet. Ray Frankowski was also undefeated during the season, having won every match by a fall.

The strength of the squad lay in its lightest weights as was shown when it took the trip to Iowa, an enterprise which afforded the boys much valuable experience. This group, composed of Bill Gostlin, Casey Fredericks, Pat Miofsky, Al Janeczko, Dory Funk, Dan Gill, Ray Frankowski, Joe Hlinka, Sal LaMantia and Ed Miko proved too tough for practically all the competition in the region and then journeyed to Bloomington to show the down staters how wrestling is done.

GOLF SQUAD IS POTENTIAL CHAMPION

After completing a successful season last year, Coach Garrett and Coach Huffine whipped into shape a group of golfers that were well-prepared to compete in the state tournament this year.

In preparation for their season, the aspirants, Frank Paterek, Bill Davis, John Peterick, and Pat Miotaky, worked out on the new driving course in the school attic until weather permitted them to flock to the nearby country clubs.

FROSH OUTCLASS FIELD IN SPEEDBALL

For the first time in years the freshmen won an inter-class meet by defeating the sophomores and then the juniors in the speedball tournament last November. An honorary varsity team would probably have consisted of the freshmen girls for they were by far the best on the field.

These champion speedball players are Beatrice Bereolos, Ruth Kasper, Dorothy Goehringer, Alice Krug, Dorothy Samuelson, Deloris Ashby, Angeline Tsouchlos, Helen Cody, Ann Grah, Geneva Heath.

JUNIORS ARE GIRL BASKETBALL CHAMPIONS

In the latter part of March and the first of April, aspirants for the school basketball championship held their annual inter-class meet in the boys' gym.

Contrary to last year's results, the freshmen defeated the sophomores and the juniors emerged victorious over the seniors. When the smoke of the final battle had cleared away, the juniors stood acknowledged champions.

From the four class teams a varsity was chosen by Miss Anderson consisting of Ronita Osby, Alice Schreiber, Ruth Wiatrowski, Mary Evyan, Mildred Black, Helen Pokrovac, Rosella Matovina, Janet Chintis, Catherine Bein, and Eileene Harmening.

SENIORS WIN GIRLS' INTERCLASS SWIMMING

The seniors emerged victorious from the inter-class swimming meets held during March and April. In the two preliminary meets the seniors beat the freshmen and the juniors defeated the sophomores. In the final contest the score was 47 for the seniors and 37 for the juniors.

The varsity picked from the four teams consists of the following seventeen members:

Free-style swimmers are Betty Betz, Anne Hopman, Florence Church, and Mabel Bourne with Marion Wright and Elizabeth Orr as subs.

Backstrokers are Ann Chapman, Mary Eryan, Jerry Croak, and Martha Belderswieden.

Selena Mayhew, Pauline Folta, and Dorothy Pratt make up the breast stroke division of the team.

GIRLS ENGAGE IN DAY OF SPORTS—PLAY DAY

May 9 marked the date of the first Hammond High School annual Play Day. The affair was sponsored by the G. A. C. in an attempt to increase comradeship, good sportsmanship, and interest in athletics among the girls in this school. All girl club members of Hammond High were invited to take part in the mass games, the swimming, and the banqueting which took place.

The program was supervised by Anne Hopman, the general chairman of Play Day activities.

And as if producing such a grand paper weren't enough, the Herald staff has sponsored movies, the Press dance, put on two auditorium sessions, and sent delegations to several cities for conferences.

BOOKROOM HELPERS SELL STUDENT SUPPLIES

The Hammond High School bookroom staff aided the student body greatly during the school year by handling financial affairs. At the beginning of the year they sold the textbooks, handling the large volume of new books as well as second-hand ones. During the different sports seasons, such as football, basketball, and swimming, the bookroom took charge of handling the tickets.

The staff selected from the junior class to work next year consists of Bob Yarnell, Stephanie Tandarich, and Edith Caird.

EPILOGUE

NEW LIFE

The scene is the same as that in the prologue. The wanderer stands looking around in the forest, once bright with the wings of moths, but now barren, except for the eggs, the larvae and the chrysalises of the moth to come. A woman enters, carrying a new-born child to be baptized.

Wanderer: Good day to you.

Woman: Good day. What are you looking for?

Wanderer: Moths. It seems a shame such lovely things should go, doesn't it?

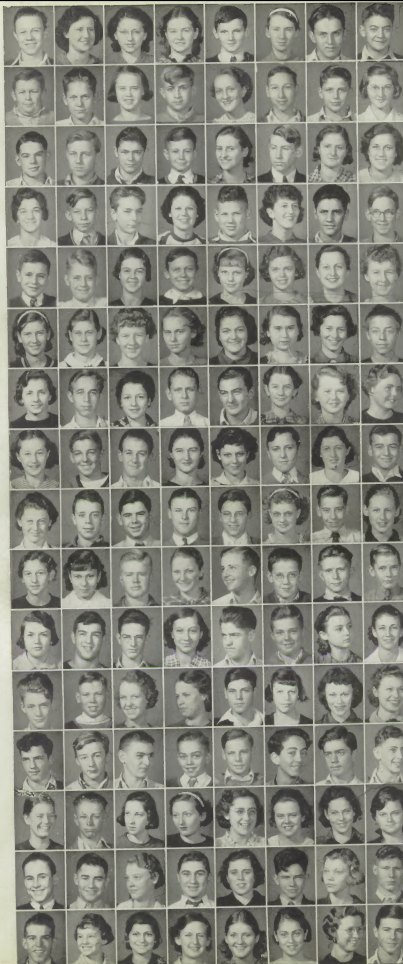

Woman: It goes like that. One goes, another is born.

Wanderer: Yes, that is true. I've found that out about life, just by standing here watching the lives of insects.

* * * * *

Seniors go; freshmen come, and gradually grow up through the egg, the larva and the chrysalis stage into full-grown moths, who, in their turn, go, giving way to others. It goes like that.

FRESHMAN CLASS LISTS MANY VARSITY ATHLETES

The first stage in the development of a moth is the egg. The freshman class of Hammond High School may well be typified by the egg, which is the beginning of the development of the student. Already there is great promise in this class and there is the beginning of a power that will develop and expand to make a great senior class.

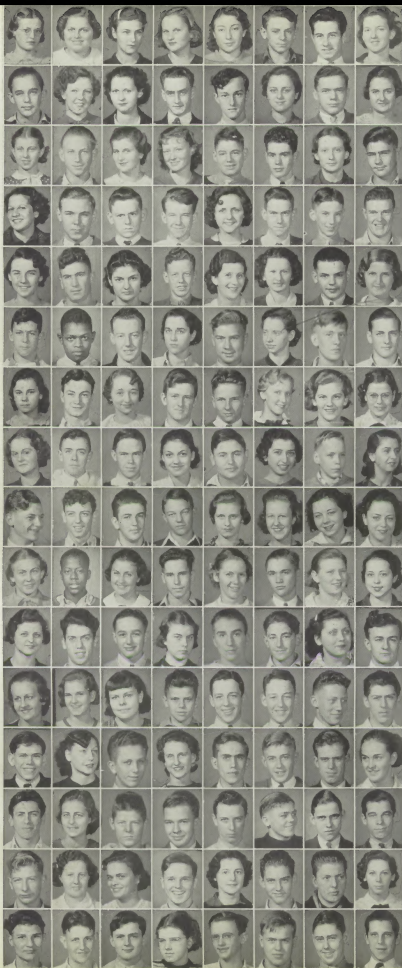

The freshman class is well-represented in athletics. On the varsity swimming team are Jim McLean, Irvin Barney and Dick DeLay. Walter Ziembra, Tom Chintis, Oren Peck, Jack Arndt, and Bruno Gargas are outstanding freshman football players. Sterling Scott, six-and-a-half-foot center, is a good prospect for the basketball team as are Oren Peck and Tom Chintis. Ziembra was placed on the Varsity quintet at tourney time. The cheering section is led by Tommy Shamklin, freshman cheerleader.

Betsy Smith, Susie Elstun, and Marian Wright, members of the freshman swimming team, are outstanding mermaids.

In the finer arts, Bruce De Camp is a talented pianist. Freshman senators are Mary Ellen David and Palmer Singleton.

ATHLETIC AND DRAMATIC SUCCESSES INCLUDED IN SOPHOMORE CLASS

Second in the formation of a moth is the caterpillar. This stage typifies the sophomore class, which has developed from the freshman stage and next will grow into the chrysalis, which stands for the junior class.

On the varsity basketball team was a sophomore, George Sobek, and on the football team was Hercules Bereolas. Johnny Tsouchlas was an outstanding dash man on the track team. The Cook brothers were members of the all-state swimming team, Jim being state champ diver and Tom a member of the state champion medley relay team.

In girls' sports, Ann Chapman was an outstanding backstroker and Selena Mayhew, an outstanding breaststroker on the swimming team.

Lois Newton and Selena Mayhew were the sophomore successes of the fall play, "Smilin' Thru."

It is for the sophomores to carry on their outstanding work when they advance into the chrysalis stage and then turn into the full-grown moth.

JUNIOR CLASS BOASTS MUSICAL AND JOURNALISTIC STUDENTS

As the moth develops from stage to stage, it turns from a tiny egg to a caterpillar to a chrysalis and from the chrysalis, there comes the full-grown moth. In this cycle of development the juniors are represented by the chrysalis, the last last stage before the organism is transformed into a moth, the seniors.

Led by their officers, Carolyn Mann, president; Dorothy Terrey, secretary, and Jack Black, treasurer, the junior class shone not only in athletics, but in intellectual subjects.

Dorrence Funk and Casey Fredericks distinguished themselves by winning all-state laurels in wrestling. Marco Vicksinich and George Benson were members of Hammond High's basketball team, which won a fourth sectional championship this year.

In the state instrument solo contest another member of the junior class, Ruth Meyers, took first honors on the oboe. Jack Black was a star reporter on the Herald, while Carolyn Mann and Ted Viden were assistant editor and business manager of the DUNES.

VERSATILE SENIOR CLASS SETS HIGH STANDARDS

The moth has passed through the three stages—egg, caterpillar, and chrysalis—and has emerged from the cocoon a full-grown insect. In this same way the senior class has passed through the stages of freshman, sophomore, and junior and now are full-fledged seniors, ready to try their wings.

Leading the Hammond High School Association were Robert Bigelow, president; Basil Lorenz, vice president; and Betty Betz, recorder. The senior class officers were Evelyn Voss, president; Mary Grills, vice president; Mary Elizabeth Klein, secretary; and Doris Olsen, treasurer. Those appointed by President Bigelow as his cabinet were Bill Belshaw, secretary of student activities; Charles Hallett, secretary of discipline; Clifford Sohl, secretary of public safety; and Emily Herbold, secretary of the Junior Red Cross. Senators for the senior class were Evelyn Voss, Jack Krause and Jim Erdman; while student judges were Geraldine Moberg and Robert Klitzke.

Two representatives of the senior class were outstanding in music. These were Robert Work, first place winner in the national contest with the cornet, and Adele Modjeska, state winner on the violin.

On the basketball team which won its fourth consecutive sectional, all five of the first team members were seniors. These were Basil Lorenz, Jack Krause, Robert Bigelow, Roland Levens, and Alex Sitnick. Basil Lorenz was given a berth on the conference team. Jack Krause was given an all-state selection on the football team. Hammond High's state champion swimming team had two seniors who were state champions, Walter Meyn in the backstroke and Ted Thomas in the breaststroke. Other star senior swimmers were Shackelford and Erdmann, both free stylers. Outstanding participants in other sports are George Papuga and Glen McKay in track, Ray Lucht in tennis, and George Roche and Alphonse Janeczko in wrestling.

In girls' sports these were Betty Betz, champion freestyler of the girls' team, and Mary Eryan, who received the cup given annually by the G. A. C. to the most versatile girl athlete.

The Dunes staff was supervised by Virginia Good, editor-in-chief, and Kenneth Means, business manager. James Erdmann was editor-in-chief, and Mary Elizabeth Klein, managing editor, of the Calumet Herald.

In the fall play, "Adam and Eva," Ruth Groman had the lead while a sophomore. In "Three Wise Fools" Eleanor Ibach, Kenneth Means, and Bill Belshaw had leading parts. In the fall play of '35 Robert Meyer, Bill Belshaw, and Ted Thomas held the leads. The leads of this year's senior play were taken by Ruth Groman, Paul Kiefer, Alberta Loesch, James Erdmann, Guy Slaughter, and Robert Klitzke.

At the top of the class scholastically stood Robert Bigelow, valedictorian; and Adele Modjeska, salutatorian.

Three senior girls have won beauty awards: Alma Pickett, "Miss Hammond High"; Geraldine Moberg, "Miss America"; and Betty Betz, prom queen.

Thus, we have presented the senior class of 1936, the moth raised by Hammond High School from a tiny egg. It has emerged from its cocoon a full-fledged insect, ready to spread its wings in flight into the world. May it uphold the standards it has thus far upheld in its stay at Hammond High School.

Dear Mr. Advertiser:

In making a year book such as the DUNES, the financial burden is so large as to make it impossible for the students of the school and the school organizations to carry it. It becomes necessary to get support from local merchants who are magnanimous enough to lend the book a helping hand.

Help such as this has been given by Hammond Merchants in such volume and in such a cooperative spirit that it has been possible for the 1936 DUNES to be made bigger and to include more extra features than ever before.

The staff's sole ambition in connection with the DUNES is to make it the best annual that has ever been turned out by the Hammond High School. So, Mr. Advertiser, our appreciation of your aid and cooperative spirit is limitless. The subscribers and the clubs pay for the regular book, but the qualities of the book that are outstanding—the extra pictures, the extra writing, the things that put the sparkle into the book—these are directly traceable to YOU.

Mr. Advertiser, we thank you.

Sincerely yours,

THE DUNES STAFF

Compliments of a Friend

TO BODIE, their photographer, the staff of the 1936 DUNES wishes to express their deep gratitude for his fine cooperation in producing their annual. It is here they wish to show their appreciation of the fine artistic effects in the photography of the club section, the clear action pictures of the athletic section, and the excellent individual photography of the senior and other classes.

One of the Stupidest Things in the World is to . . .

. . . like things because they are cheap. It is almost as stupid as to like things just because they are dear. Cheap buying is not economical buying. . . . Two semi-pleasing purchases are never equal to one really satisfactory one. The person of good taste knows this . . . for what is smartness but common sense with snap in it? And, without unbalancing the budget, the person with good taste exercises the best choice that it permits . . . Quality of mind will always demand quality of matter.

Mickey Nau dialed 6800 and chuckled with glee when the checkered cab pulled up to his house. He said, "O. K., gang," and ten kids started piling in! Can you imagine—ten half wits thought they could ride for the price of five—just because they were only half there! But Mickey's gang didn't care—because even if only five could get in one cab, three cents a mile apiece isn't much to pay for a swell ride in a Checker Cab, is it?

Later she emerged, flashed her Garbo (or Harlow) smile, dropped the paper and quietly sneaked away (with seven self-appointed bodyguards following her).

No, Alma, alias Daisy, Beautiful Miss Hammond High, etc., had not consulted a racing schedule. She had placed her bet on something far safer than horses! The paper was a time-table of the Union Bus Terminal.

Says Alma in her soft voice: "If I go to represent Hammond in the beauty contest I want to be safe, travel cheaply, and go everywhere. That's why I called the Union Bus Terminal."

Congratulations and Best Wishes to the 1936 High School Graduate!

High school graduates have an excellent educational background to which the modern short business training course should be a very useful addition.

If a graduate be ambitious for an important professional; or classical career, the benefits emanating from a business training course, will surely be a supporting staff,—always ready to help him or her over the various financial hurdles which beset the way of the aspiring youth should his or her funds be limited.

If a renowned place in the business world is desired, the modern business training course will be the talisman to open innermost doors to golden opportunities, and bring the contender such rewards as his or her application, energy and capabilities merit.

Coach Scott told Clyde Cleveland that whenever he was in a swimming meet he should keep cool. Even when the water was cold, Clyde had trouble doing this until he conceived of an idea. Then he went over to the Hammond Electric Company and bought one of their extra cool electric fans to be installed in the pool room. Now this fan does its work faithfully at every swimming meet, and Clyde is cool as the proverbial cucumber.
